The Louisville and Nashville Railroad Controversy.

The committee of investigation into the affairs of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad Company, meet to-day to make up their report as to the matters laid before them. We have purposely abstained from the discussion of this subject while the committee was in session. "All that we have said has, of course, been before the committee, for it was publicly printed and could not escape their observation. We referred to specific proofs as to most of our charges, and that there may be no mistake, we will here add some authority for an important one of our charges.

We stated that freight had gone over the Louisville and Nashville railroad at Cincinnati. We now have before us a bill of lading, dated August 13th, 1893, signed by W. E. Ludlow, agent, for the taking of twenty-five packages from Proctor & Gambell, of Cincinnati, to E. M. Apperson, of Memphis, at thirty-eight cents per hundred. We also have a letter from the general freight agent of the mail line at Cincinnati, from which we make the following extract:

GENERAL FREIGHT OFFICE
CINCINNATI, September 6, 1893.

W. E. Ludlow, Editor Louisville Express:
Dear Sir—Your issue of the 4th inst. is at hand. In reply, I would state that on or about the 13th of August last, several merchants of this city came to me, desiring to ship freight to Memphis, Tennessee. I told them that our rates to Memphis were 75c per 100 pounds on 1st and 3d classes, and 50c per 100 pounds on 2d and 4th classes, and that these rates had been in force for a year without change, and that we had not departed from them in any case. They replied that Mr. W. E. Ludlow, agent of the Short-Line railroad, had told them that they could ship through from Covington, regardless of classification, at 22c per 100 pounds, and at 35c per 100 pounds from warehouses in Cincinnati, to Memphis. I declined to take freight at any such rates.

To-day I find their agent in the streets offering to take beef in the cars at 65 cents per 100 lbs. from Cincinnati warehouses to New Orleans, while our rate since August 31st have been 75 cents per 100 lbs. and we are charged arbitrary rates from Louisville should we depart from this price. Short-Line railroad agent tells me that he had no advice until this afternoon of the advance to 75 cents per 100 lbs. on New Orleans fourth-class freight, and that under the circumstances his 65 cents rate must be carried out.

W. G. McCoy,
General Freight Agent.
These are the material parts of Mr. McCoy's letter, the original of which we have put in the hands of the investigating committee appointed by the Board of Trade. And to this we may add that we have been informed personally by several Cincinnati merchants, that these shipments, of at least two hundred tons, were made "without regard to classification," at thirty-eight cents from their warehouses, or thirty-two cents per one hundred pounds from the Covington depot.

Now these are the facts, and what is the conclusion to be drawn from them? A correspondent of the Courier-Journal, speaking for the Louisville and Nashville railroad, said of these transactions, that the Louisville and Nashville railroad got thirty-three cents of this freight and the Short-Line road got five cents of it. That view of the case is, on the face, erroneous—it is impossible. It cost the Short-Line road six cents per hundred to get the freight from Cincinnati to Covington, and if it only then got five cents out of the thirty-eight, it was clearly out of pocket one cent per hundred. Does the Short-Line thus pay for the privilege of sending freight over the Louisville and Nashville road? We don't pretend to say it may not do so; but if such be the fact, we want to understand it. And in an explanation of the isolated case we cite, let there be an exposition of all the mysterious matters of this kind that may have occurred.

All that we have asked in this matter is justice to our own merchants. We have been informed that freights went from Cincinnati to the South for less than our own merchants could ship over the Louisville and Nashville railroad, and such discriminations against those who made the Louisville and Nashville railroad don't suit our notions of things. We want strict justice done to our own merchants; and if that is secured by the action of the committee, it is all we ask and all that our merchants ask. But that they have a right to demand.

Several of our good friends of the Louisville and Nashville railroad directory inform us that Judge Black has not demanded $25,000 from the road. We are assured that the amount is a large one, and we apprehend that the directory will discover that we have named the precise amount. They are in correspondence with Judge Black on the subject.

"LOUISVILLE" writes to the Courier-Journal that he don't like our style of writing. Well, we don't write to please him. But how about that fulsome eulogy of the merchant prince "Louisville" wrote for the Courier-Journal? Evidently there are men who are not the "merchant prince" of the Louisville and Nashville railroad. We don't like your style, "said the thief to the judge who condemned him to hang."

The Bitters Question.

An anonymous correspondent of the Courier-Journal who signs himself "Louisville," is exceeding wrath at us for designating his attack upon J. B. Wilder, as an attempt upon the part of the Newcombites to turn the Louisville and Nashville railroad into a grand advertising medium of stomach bitters. Poor fellow, we can't help his getting mad. His first attack, which appeared last Sunday, was so vile that he could not get another into print, except by paying for it. Hence his communication of this morning headed "Advertisement," which means paid for at so much a line.

It would be hard to guess at the kind of man that would write such an article. May be he has taken so much Stomach Bitters, &c., that all the sweets which nature may have given him are gone; and he is left but a compound him, self of gall and wormwood, ready to be bottled for the use of others. Surely he has been already bottled by the Newcombites to be dosed out as occasion may require. And if the quality of the bitters in question are to be judged of by their effects upon "Louisville" as their defender only, without himself having taken any, the community may well pray to be delivered from them. We don't think that the Louisville and Nashville Railroad, though it has stood the Newcombites for nearly a year, can stand the bitters man any longer than the coming October.

If by such publications as "Louisville" gets off the Newcombites expect to gain influence with the City Council or the general stockholders of the Louisville and Nashville railroad, they will find themselves mistaken. Already they have been notified that their personal attacks upon Mr. Wilder have made him wiser; and they will learn to their sorrow that such things will inevitably defeat Newcomb and elect Wilder. We are reliably informed that the suit alluded to by "Louisville" does not justify his strictures upon Mr. J. B. Wilder; and any man of sense can easily see that "Louisville" only presents one side of the question, and purposely keeps back Mr. J. B. Wilder's version of the affair, as well as his proof in the case.

The facts set forth by "Louisville" himself are his own condemnation. He shows that J. B. Wilder & Co. sold their own bitters, with their own name cast in the bottle and printed upon the label. What they sold, therefore, was their own, bearing their own name, and could deceive no one who had eyes to see and did not want to be deceived. It is vain to count about one name being another or suggesting another. The merchant who sells his own goods, with his own name upon them, cannot by any just man be said to sell another's goods with another's name. It won't do to infer that "Louisville" infers from the facts he adduces. His conclusion is as unwarranted as his objectivity.

Our Position Correctly Stated.

The correspondent of the Cincinnati Gazette states our position in the railroad controversy with entire accuracy. The Express is the organ of neither of the contending parties. We occupy an independent position and say what we think is right, without fear or favor. We have endeavored to represent the interests of Louisville and her merchants, and have, to the best of our ability, discharged that duty. The correspondent writes:

In mentioning, in a recent letter, the discussion in the Louisville papers in reference to the freight tariffs from Louisville to points South, as compared with the rates charged from Cincinnati to the same points, I said that it was nothing more than a fight between two parties who were trying to secure the management of the Nashville railroad, and that after the pending election of president and directors was over, the interest in the welfare of Louisville merchants would subside. It would appear from this that the Evening Express was the organ of one of the parties. It was not the intention to convey such an impression. The Express has occupied neutral ground, so far as a choice for president of the road is concerned. It is opposed to the present management of the road, but it is not endeavoring to elect any other party. The correspondence by the Express has not the approval of the merchants of Louisville. The reports that goods can be shipped from Cincinnati to Southern points cheaper than from Louisville to the same points have not been satisfactorily controverted, and a committee was appointed at a late meeting of the Board of Trade to investigate the matter.

GENERAL TERRELL, the Third Assistant Postmaster General, in order to remove the dissatisfaction expressed against the present postage stamps, proposes to change them, and with this view he has directed the bank note company which furnishes them to prepare the designs for new issues. The heads of Washington, Jackson, Franklin, Lincoln and Jefferson are to be restored, in place of the present designs, to be represented as profile busts, each to represent the various denominations. The stamps are to be larger than those now in use and oblong. Instead of 150 being printed on a sheet there will be only 100. The former color—red—will also be restored. A month or two may elapse before the new stamps will be ready.

We print an article elsewhere from the Chicago Tribune, which intimates pretty clearly that if Virginia don't adopt the Fifteenth Amendment, her reconstruction will be postponed. It further suggests that Grant & Co. will interfere with the State government in Tennessee if it don't swallow the said amendment ungrudgingly, negroes and all. Now, haven't we a beautiful government, when such threats can be made—aye, and carried out? Ours is a Republican form of government with a vengeance.

"LOUISVILLE" says he has no interest in the railroad controversy. Yet he pays Newcomb the most disgusting adulation, endeavors to blacken Wilder's character, and pays about fifty dollars for the privilege of printing his article in the Courier-Journal! Disinterested witness, indeed.

SHELBYVILLE was ablaze with bonfires and enthusiasm Monday night over the vote of the county appropriating $400,000 toward the Cumberland and Ohio railroad. It was carried by seventeen votes only.

At the State election in Vermont, yesterday, the Republicans elected their ticket by a majority estimated at between nineteen and twenty thousand. The Republican majority last fall was 32,122.

New York, October 13, 1867.

DEAR SIR—It is with much pleasure that I say to you that I consider the PLANTATION BITTERS of untold value. In the fall of 1867 I was taken with chills and fever, with the most severe pains in my chest and head. It was with great difficulty that I could breathe. My lungs were greatly distressed, and there was severe pain in my right side, by spells. I could hardly get up from my bed. I called a doctor, who attended me all winter without the least benefit. About the 1st of August I commenced using your PLANTATION BITTERS—a wine-glass full three times a day—and have used it most of the time since, and I am now well and strong, able to do all my own work and the care of a large family.

Yours, &c.,

THE CAPITAL IS MOURNING.
WASHINGTON, Sept. 7.—The body of Secretary Rawlins was removed to the War Department this morning, and lies in state in Gen. Sherman's room, attended by a military guard. All the military departments, including the Executive Mansion, are draped in mourning, and the interior of the War Department is festooned with black flags and crepe. Public business is entirely suspended in the War Department. National flags over all the departments and elsewhere throughout the city are at half mast. Gen. The rate of representation named in the call is two delegates at large from each State, and one delegate from each Congressional district in each State, one delegate from each city and town situated on the river, or any of its branches, and one delegate from each of the thousand population of such city or town or town or town.

THE POLICY OF FRANCE.

The Times, in an article on the French situation, says many think France Napoleon's speech was only a ploy to arrive at a knowledge of men's minds. If so it was promptly answered. The clamor raised places real liberal aspirations beyond a doubt. The Prince's speech may be taken as the programme of the imperial government, such as must arise when the present men and principles are removed. Napoleon's position is regarded on the basis of national sovereignty, founded self-government and ministerial responsibility. Prince Napoleon's part in the new order of things depends on the changes of the Emperor's recovery. Should the Emperor's form a liberal ministry with Prince Napoleon at the head it would be an experiment worth trying. If the Emperor's absence from the Cabinet is to be indefinitely prolonged, it is difficult to see who could dispute the Lieutenant of the Emperor with Prince Napoleon. The present crisis in France cannot be without grave consequences, and the Prince has placed himself in a position which it will be no good policy for the Emperor to dispense with or overlook him.

His strength has increased, and his pains have diminished, but it is not believed he will be able to go outdoors to-day. The Emperor yesterday signed most of the decrees presented to him. To-day he received M. Rouher and the Ministers bearing the Senate Consultation, which has just passed the Senate.

THE MONITOR COMPLAINS.

The Monitor complains that it is difficult to obtain any authentic advice of the Emperor's condition to-day. No doubt the variations of the temperature have exercised an unfavorable influence on the progress of his convalescence, and rendering the pains more severe. The Emperor was unable to walk out yesterday, but he passed an easy night. Meanwhile Dr. Ricord has again been called to attend his Majesty.

PRINCE GORTSCHAKOFF.

The Government has taken measures to prevent their entry.

CUBAN AFFAIRS.

MADRID, Sept. 7.—The Epoca to-day states that Gen. Siles has sent a note to the Government representing that public opinion in the United States will compel the recognition of the Cuban insurgents. The Epoca urges the dispatch of the last man and the expenditure of the last dollar rather than lose Cuba. It suggests the meeting be held in every town of the state of the Spanish Peninsula on this question, and concludes with a declaration that the loss of Cuba would disorganize the world.
